THE RENOVO GAME.

Our boys went to Renovo on Friday and played a game at that place, while they met defeat by a score of 3 to 2, the game was a most exciting and uncertain one. The Renovo News says:

"Upwards of one thousand spectators witnessed the first game this season between the strong Emporium and P. & E. base ball clubs of this place.

"The uncertainty of the national game was fully demonstrated in the contest, the final result being in doubt until the last Emporium player was retired in the ninth.

"Cummings of Emporium put up a nice game at second, taking everything that came his way. Hockley made two difficult catches in left field but dropped an easy chance."

Did it Pay to Discover America?

The discovery of America cost just about $7,000—$3,000 for Columbus's fleet, $300 for the Admiral's salary, $200 each for the two captains accompanying the expedition, and $2.50 per month each for the several members of the crew. And yet there are folks who say that no legitimate investment can possibly pay more than 6 per cent.—Cent Per Cent for August.

Remains of John Dumm Found.

On Tuesday, July 13th, John Dumm, who worked for C B. Howard Company at Camp No. 20, on Cooks Run, complained of feeling unwell and went to his boarding house. After supper he told his foreman he would go to Emporium for medical assistance. Not hearing anything about him, woods foreman, A. Dent Smith, started a crew of men out to search for the missing man, but all efforts to locate him proving without avail, the search was given up.

On Monday Lewis Yates, while going to his work, about one-half mile from camp, came upon the decomposed remains of the unfortunate man, lying in a fresh slashing. He evidently became bewildered and wandered away from the road and laid down to die. Deceased had not been in good health for some time, in fact was a nervous wreck. The report that an empty bottle of poison was found near his body is not correct, the bottle having contained oil of tar, used in the woods to keep away flies.

Undertaker LaBar was notified by the Company to take charge of the remains, his wagon being driven up to the camp Monday afternoon and what was left of his body placed in a rough box and brought to his morgue at this place to await word from his relatives, who reside at Cogan Station.

Mr. A. Dent Smith, who has known the deceased for a number of years, states that he has a sister, Mrs. Frank Ludwig, at Cogan Station. His age is about 45 years.

His remains were interred in Newton Cemetery Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. R. A. Robertson offering a prayer at the grave. It is possible that the relatives of the deceased may remove the remains to their home.

Mysterious Death

The County Commissioners were called up on the 'phone Wednesday by parties at Medix Run, who communicated the information that a man had died in the streets at Medix Run under mysterious circumstances—apparently suffering from poison The parties insisted that an inquest should be held. Accordingly the inquest was held Wednesday afternoon by Justice E. H. Dixon, of Caledonia, and after examining into the facts of the case the coroner's jury decided that the man died of alcoholism. The man's name proved to be Lee Kirkland, and his home is in Harrisburg, where he leaves a widow and five children. He was aged about 35 years, and is thought to have come into this county to hunt work, probably in the woods. It is said he fell in the road, frothed at the mouth in a kind of fit, and died before he could be moved to any house. The death occurred at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A team from the County Home was sent after the body this morning and the Commissioners are communicating with the family as to what disposition they shall make of the remains. This is only more of the many victims of rum in this county every year.—Ridgway Advocate. We are informed Kirkland used to reside at Sinnemahoning, were he worked in the woods.

Credit to our High School.

Paul T. Arnold, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Arnold, of this place, recently took the examinations for admittance as a student at Yale College. During the present week the young man received a notice that he passed such a fine examination that he was admitted to Yale without a single condition. Paul was a member of the Ridgway High School class of 1905, and the fact that he was so easily admitted to such a celebrated institution of Yale College reflects a great deal of credit on our high school and his teachers. Even Prof. Feirce himself is delighted at this high honor.—Ridgway Advocate.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa., August 12th. Five Generations.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pepper and Mrs. W. W. Knickerbocker and daughter returned on Saturday from visiting at Watkins Glen, Elmira and Williamsport. At the home of Mrs. Pepper—widow of the late Joel Shives—there were five generations of the family present. They enjoyed their visit immensely.

Quit the Job.

B. L. Spence, who has been one of the Rural Carriers since the service was established in Shippen, has resigned. Burnell says it takes too many horses. A. O. Swartwood the substitue takes his place. Mr. Spence had other business in view, having with his three sons taken the contract to manufacture boxes for Emporium Powder Co.

Extensive Repairs.

W. A. Fitzgerald, formerly of Sterling Run, but now employed at Ridgway by Elk Tanning Company, as master carpenter, with three crews of workmen under his charge, has been making extensive repairs and improvements at the tannery at this place. From present indications a large gas engine, 200 horse power, will be installed here. The Emporium plant will be in operation as long as the bark lasts, which will be after our time, no doubt. Mr. Fitzgerald left for Ridgway yesterday.

Trackman Lost.

Adout ten o'clock last Saturday, Toney Gregario, a track hand employed at Sizerville, went to the creek and up to this writing no trace of him has been found. It is thought he became demented and has been lost. Toney is about 45 years old, heighth about five feet four inches, heavy set and very dark complexion. When last seen wore working clothes. He is supposed to have had considerable money. Searching parties have scoured the country for miles around but without avail.

Pleasant Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Jones gave a reception last Saturday evening at their residence in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Jones, upon their return from a brief bridal tour. The following guests were in attendance. Rev. Oliver S. Metzler, Dr. S. S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sprung, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Haupt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Husted, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hertig, Mr. B. E. Jones and son Herkie, Mrs. Jennie Webster, Mrs. W. W. Dickinson, Mrs. Jos. Grant, Misses Mildred Haupt, Bessie Greenhears, Susie Wheaton, Myrtle Shaffer, Ada Martin and Messrs. Bert Caton, H. Minard, G. S. Allen. The occasion was one of great enjoyment. An elaborato dinner was served at ten p. m., which is very flatteringly complimented. At a late hour the merry party repaired to their homes.

The Church-Parsons Kindergarten System of Music Study.

This easy and delightful method by which children may be taught in class lessons the first principles of piano music, by the assistance of the Kindergarten Piano Chart, furnishes foundational material for Musical Notation, Keyboard Location, Audition, Elementary Harmony, Musical History, Composition, Rhythmic Motion, Finger Calisthenics and Piano Work. Every topic is fully explained by means of charts, models and tools, which with the attention stories, make the study of music, especially to the young student interesting as well as instructive. These lessons contain stories that stimulate the immagination, musical quotation and songs to cultivate musical intelligence, audition exercises to train the ear to become very susceptible to musical tones, sight-reading exercises to train the eye to accurately read musical notation, calisthenics and table technique to train the hands to do the bidding of the mind, mental drills to train the mind to comprehend music, written work to train the student to write correctly a musical sentence, memory verses to train the memory to retain a musical thought, chart drills and real piano work to develop the sense of location of key, rhythm exercises to develop the sense of rhymic motion. These lessons are suitable for children between the ages of six to sixteen years. It is the latest and by far the most advanced method of musical instruction for the young.

A Great Ball Game.

The chief amusement for the boys in connection with the picnic of Emmanuel Sunday school at Keystone Park yesterday was the game of base ball, in which the juniors defeated their elders in a six inning game. The score was 24 to 10. No attempt was made to record the errors.

The Observer.

Some years ago Professor William James, of Harvard, wrote a little book entitled "The Will to Believe," in which he showed, with the profound analysis of a psychological expert and with his well-known literary skill, that an act of will is involved in every act of belief, and that a want of belief, of interest, of conviction, is due to a nerveless and passive will. The man who has no beliefs is a non-entity, an object of contempt Doubts and questionings have their place and function, but their place and function should be strictly subordinate to a supreme positive conviction and active purpose. If we are exhorted to "prove all things," we are also urged to "hold fast that which is good," and are moreover sharply warned against the spirit which is "ever learning, but never able to come to a knowledge of the truth." Contrast the power of a Peter the Hermit, fanatic though he was, with the pitiable ineffectiveness of a Hamlet whose "cast of thought" was not dominated by a "native hue of resolution." The man without faith, without a cause, without enthusiasm, is to be blamed for failing to exert the active will power of a vigorous and noble manhood. The world's leaders and workers and battlers have ever been man who have had the will to believe in something. No man can sit on the fence and believe in God or in anything else. The will must be active, the mind must bestir itself, if there is to be belief. Indeed, the mind is active in all our acts of perception and judgment. Every mental process, even those of our physical senses, involves attention, which is an act of the will. Without attention, one's beset friend may stand right before his eyes, and yet he will not be aware of that friend's presence. We see what we give attention to. Two persons may stand upon the same hill-top and cast their eyes around the same sweep of landscape, yet what the one sees may be very different from what the other sees. One may be a real estate agent, or a mining prospector, while the other may be a painter or a poet. What each of them sees depends quite as much upon what he himself brings to the scene as upon the scene itself. The mind of neither is a mere passive, inactive surface, sensitized like a camera plate; but is a very active agent which discriminates, rejects, selects and constructs a picture of what is before it, as unique as its own individuality. It is a commonplace, that if we know what one sees, we know what he himself is.

The pessimist and the cynic justify themselves by saying that they see life as it, and that consequently they are no more to be blamed for being pessimistic and cynical than the side of a scales is to be blamed for dropping when when a weight is placed on it. If they were really impartial in their view of facts, the case would not be so bad; but their view is not impartial; they do not see things whole, nor as they are. To see and appreciate the better things of existence it is necessary that one come to the view with a heart ready to love them and with a will ready to co-operate with the spirit of the best and to carry out one's own part of the Larger Purpose. Without such a disposition and will, one is without the very basis of character and one's view of things is distorted and dim.

Burglarly.

Yesterday morning, about two o'clock, W. A. Fitzgerald who has been stopping at Jos. Newton's and occupying a room on second floor, heard his door knob turn and the door opened. Thinking it one of the boarders he watched the chap who stood in the doorway looking at him, no doubt to see if he was awake. The sneak watched Fitzgerald for five minutes when Fitz thought it about time to be "doing something" and rolled over. At this move the intruder bolted down stairs, out upon the lawn. Then Wm. went back to bed. In the morning when Mr. Newton and family arose they were surprised to see the front door wide open and a large bundle of clothes, coats, etc., lying upon the lawn. Nothing was missing but a few stick pins and some change taken from Jas. Murphy and Bert Caton's clothes. Had not Mr. Fitzgerald frightened away the early caller Jimmy Murphy says he would have had to go to the store in a barrel or banana case. Mr. Newton requests the intruder to return, promising to give him an elaborate reception.

Abolishing Old Age.

Society has passed an unwritten law abolishing old age. Unlike many written laws, it is being enforced. Where is the venerable grandmother who used, in black dress and black cap, to sit in the chimney corner knitting the children's stockings? Arrayed in a beautiful pea green silk gown and a flowered hat, her gray hair done in a naughty pompadour, she is out helping receive at a fashionable function or attending the latest musical comedy at the theater. Where is the "lea nand slippered pantaloon" who used to spend long days, "spectacles on nose and pouch on side," sunning himself on the front porch or hobbling about the house and yard on a cane? He is down at the office or store working energetically and ambitiously as he did 20 years ago, or out at the ball game cheering as lustily as the most vociferous small boy on the bleachers. We have changed all this, says the Chicago Tribune. A man is now young until he is 45 and middle-aged the rest of his life. Spinsters don't become old maids any more. They are girls until 35 when they become bachelor maids. Married women are young until 40, after which, like their husbands after 45, they enjoy a parennial middle age. There may be persons scattered here and there who regard themselves as old and will submit to be banished, as the aged of past generations were, from business, amusements and society, but if there be any such their number is small and they are all well past the biblical three score and ten mark. Prof. Shaler, of Harvard, regards the abolition of old age as a sign of progress. Brutes and savages, as he points out, either kill their superannuates or leave them to starve. On rising from savagery to barbarism men set their aged as a class apart and revere them for their wisdom and dignity. It is a mark of an advance in civilization when they are "readopted into the association and are allowed to go along with the business of life in the manner of other people."

Girls Beat the Boys.

Coeducation is resulting in the intellectual humiliation of men. In the class rooms of almost every college and university where the joint instruction of both sexes is a permanent feature the feminine students have been excelling their masculine rivals, and at a majority of the commencement day ceremonies which are now close at hand the girl graduate will practically monopolize the honors in scholarship. The superiority of the young woman student over her athletic brother in the duties for which colleges are endowed seems now to be an established fact. In order that the question might not be considered from any limited local point of view or judged by isolated instances, the Chicago Record-Herald has collected statistics relating to the comparative scholarship of men and women in the undergraduate liberal arts departments of 16 prominent coeducational institutions, north, south, east and west. The result is truly surprising. In one graduating class alone have the men excelled the women—and this event caused general surprise among the faculty of that particular university. In two or three of the others the data were not yet available, but everything pointed toward the usual victory of the women. In all others the eternal feminine was overwhelmingly triumphant.

Merit Versus "Pull."

Postmaster Wilcox, of New York, has given signal proof that political "pull" is not supreme in his office. Recently the superintendency of mails became vacant and the postmaster consulted one of his associates about eligible members of his staff, inquiring particularly about a Mr. Roome. His adviser replied that the man mentioned was the best man for the place, but as not an applicant for promotion. A further inquiry as to the reason for Roome's modesty brought out this interesting bit of information: He had not applied because he knew he had no chance of getting it. He did not know a single politician. Mr. Wilcox sent for Roome and after some conversation, which showed the latter's efficiency, named him for the vacancy, and he is now superintendent of mails.

A BIG SALARY FOR MORTON.

New President of the Equitable Life Society Will Receive $80,000 a Year.

New York, July 27.—At a two hours' session of the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society yesterday the resignations of ex-President James W. Alexander and Nevada N. Stranahan as directors were accepted. Paul Morton was elected president of the society, retaining, it is understood, the chairmanship as well. A special meeting of the directors will be held to-day, at which additional directors will be elected and amendments to the charter of the society adopted.

At yesterday's meeting of the directors George F. Vieter, of this city, and Ernest B. Kruttschnitt, of New Orleans, were nominated as directors and will be elected at to-day's special meeting. Mr. Vieter is a prominent dry goods and commission merchant and Mr. Kruttschnitt is one of the leaders of the bar in the southwest.

Chairman Morton reported to the directors that in pursuance of his policy of retrenchment the society would effect savings of $500,000 a year. He submitted a financial report for the first six months which was pronounced very satisfactory by the directors. At to-day's meeting it is quite probable the position of chairman will be abolished.

The matter of pensions to the widow of H. B. Hyde and others was referred to a committee consisting of Directors McCook, Whitman and Zehnder. It is understood that Mr. Morton's salary as president of the society will be $80,000 a year.

James W. Alexander, ex-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, passed through New York yesterday on his way to the Catskill Mountains to complete the restoration of his health. Mr. Alexander has been ill at Babylon, L. I., for several weeks.

SMUGGLERS ARE BUSY.

They Use Standard Oil Ships as Vehicles for a Traffic in Contraband Tobacco.

New York, July 27.—The custom house authorities intend to take active measures to stop the extensive smuggling of tobacco at Bayonne, N. J., where on Saturday 27 bales of Sumatra tobacco, valued at about $2,000, were seized in the house of a woman who is said to be the agent of a gang of smugglers.

The vessel from which the tobacco came is the steamer Diamant, of the Standard Oil Co. Under the revised statutes the collector may institute proceedings for a fine equal to the appraised value against the master of any vessel, together with a penalty of $400 for having landed smuggled goods in port, and if the master be not responsible the collector may proceed against the owners of the vessel.

The collector intends to put the case in the hands of the United States district attorney at Bayonne to prosecute it to the fullest extent. There have been 20 similar cases lately in Bayonne and in every case the goods came in on steamers belonging to the Standard Oil Co. The affair was called to the attention of the Standard Oil officials and they promised to investigate.

A POTTERY COMBINE.

It Will Have $40,000,000 Capital and Control the Tableware Trade.

East Liverpool, O., July 27.—A combination that will practically control the tabeware and china trade of this country has virtually been effected and a pottery trust with $40,000,000 capital is regarded by interested manufacturers in this city as an accomplished fact. Promoters have been working upon the proposed consolidation since last May, and it is now announced that more than 75 per cent of the kiln capacity of all the tableware plants in the country stands ready to enter the deal. Three prominent Philadelphia banks are backing the deal.

But one large plant in this city, the Homer Laughlin China Co., with 32 kilns, is withholding from the combination and the Sebrings, who run three plants at Sebring, O., are also out of it. This city is to be the headquarters of the new combination, which will erect and occupy a large office building here.

Shot the Girl Who Jilted Him.

Liberty, N. Y., July 27.—Cornelius McCormick, an extensive real estate dealer and one of the most widely known business men in Sullivan county, is under arrest here, being charged with attempted murder, and Miss Kittie Murphy is at death's door, the result of a bullet wound in the mouth. The shooting of Miss Murphy occurred on the street here Tuesday night and created intense excitement. It is said that McCormick had been attentive to Miss Murphy for some time, but recently she discarded him for another suitor.

REPRIEVE CAME IN LAST HOUR

"Bluebeard" Johann Hoch Is Granted a Stay of Sentence Until August 15.

HE HAD NEVER ABANDONED HOPE

The $500 Necessary to Secure an Appeal of the Case Was Furnished by an Attorney, Who Is a Friend of the Condemned Man's Counsel.

Chicago, July 29.—Johann Hoch, "Bluebeard" and confessed bigamist, sentenced to be hanged Friday for poisoning one of his wives, was yesterday afternoon granted a reprieve until August 25 by Gov. Deneen. The stay of execution followed hours of anxiety on the part of Hoch, who had never given up hope, and was allowed by the governor only after the latter had been assured that the necessary sum to appeal the case had been raised. The amount, $500, was given gy an attorney and friend of Hoch's counsel. The attorney declared he was actuated by humanitarian motives.

An incident at the jail during the preparation for the execution was the appearance of a physician and a woman who told Jailer Whitman that they wanted to help in Hoch's battle for life. They said they wished to raise funds for the condemned man and asked Whitman to delay the hanging as long as possible. Hoch's attorney, however, had already been in communication with the authorities respecting the stay of sentence. All arrangements had been made for the execution and in view of the action of Gov. Dineen on Thursday in refusing a stay of execution and similar action by the state board of pardons, Hoch's chance for life was considered slight.

About the time set for the execution the attorney who furnished the money appeared in the case for the first time. This attorney, it was said, telephoned Hoch's lawyer that the former had $500 to give toward aiding to appeal the case. The two lawyers hastened to the jail, told Jailor Whitman of the money secured and arranged with the jailor to postpone as long as possible the execution of Hoch. Meanwhile they sought State's Attorney Healy and had him arrange a conference with Gov. Deneen over the long distance telephone.

Hoch's counsel told the governor that there was lacking only a small sum of the amount necessary for a review of the case. After discussing the matter with the state's attorney, the governor finally consented to a stay for the condemned man and so notified Hoch's counsel.

Hoch, even several hours before the time set for the hanging, was quite confident of executive clemency, although at times he seemed to despair of receiving a reprieve.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Confidence Expands as Crops are Secured—Industrial Situation Good.

New York, July 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Commercial tendencies are still in the direction of improvement, although progress is hampered by some inflation of prices for the raw materials of textile and footwear industries. Confidence expands as the crops are secured, each day putting a large quantity of grain beyond danger and making sensational rumors of loss less effective. Weather conditions have been favorable for retail distribution, reduced stocks in the hands of dealers being reflected in enlarged wholesale and jobbing demands. Evidences of faith in the future are increasing, more disposition being shown to provide for requirements beyond immediate consumption.

The industrial situation is in a striking contrast to conditions prevailing a year ago, when there was much idleness. Complete returns now available for the leading departments indicate that the first half of 1905 made a better comparison with the corresponding six months last year than even the most sanguine estimates, which naturally increases optimism regarding business during the second half.

Failures this week numbered 214 in the United States, against 220 last year, and 27 in Canada, compared with 18 a year ago.

Progress of the Fever Plague.

New Orleans, July 29.—Although the unofficial reports made public Friday showed a larger number of yellow fever deaths than on Thursday, when there were only two, and the appearance of a number of new cases, the men of science who are warring against the yellow fever plague ended the day's labors confident that the situation was still well in hand. The following report as to the progress of yellow fever in New Orleans is up to 6 p. m. Friday: New cases, 21; total cases to date, 227; deaths Friday, 3; deaths since July 12, 47; new centers, 8; total centers, 35. The health authorities hold also that the plague remains an Italian infection.

Established a New Record.

Titusville, Pa., July 29.—Paced by a running mate, Frank Yokum made a new world's record, pacing over a half mile track Friday. He paced the mile in 2:05¼. The second head of the race was paced in 2:06¼, thus establishing a new world's record for two heats in a race.

San Francisco, July 29.—The American schooner Honolulu, now 125 days out from Shanghai for Puget Sound, has been given up as lost and further re-insurance has been refused.

FALSIFIED ITS REPORT.

Serious Charge Made Against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Co., of New York City.

Albany, N. Y., July 28.—Concealment of judgments against the company amounting to $182,767, exaggeration of its surplus by over $300,000 and a fixed policy of delay in settling claims, are some of the charges made against the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Co. by Chief Examiner Isaac Vanderpool, in his report submitted to State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks and by him made public yesterday.

The examination was begun last December and covers a period back to 1899. The company has headquarters in New York City and claims assets of between five and six millions.

Examiner Vanderpool says that the management of the company made no mention of these judgments in the item of liabilities reported for the year 1904.

"Further variations, in addition to those appearing in credit assets and policy reserve, as between the figures published in the company's last annual statement and similar items embodied in this report, are produced in the item of unpaid death claims on December 31, 1904. They are returned in the annual statement of the company at $796,704. As the result of this examination the amount is shown to be $831,429.

"The company's last annual statement," says the report, "produces a so-called surplus of unassigned funds amounting to $359,211. The examination just completed fixes this item at $38,492."

The report shows in detail how insurance at one time amounting to $1,923,000.73 finally yielded its beneficiaries $906,654.74, there having been deducted $293,655 on account of an indebtedness ascertained by the company to exist against the assured, with a further deduction of $722,686 retained by the company for the various alleged violations of contract by the insured.

In 1895 the department recommended that the company establish a sinking fund to offset the depreciation of leases. The suggestion was adopted, but, says the examiner, "the fund appears to have been abandoned some time ago, for in ten years it has reached but $56,948. The sum of $42,000 has, however, been borrowed from this fund and is charged to mortuary account. The balance, therefore, after the loan to the latter account, reduces the leasehold sinking fund to $14,948, instead of $165,000, the amount which should now represent it, under the recommendation made in 1895 by the appraiser of the insurance department."

FEUDISTS FOUGHT.

Kentuckians Met in a Lonely Spot and Engaged in a Desperate Battle.

Owingsville, Ky., July 28.—In a desperate encounter between the Mullins and Fleming factions of feudists Sol Mullins, leader of the Mullins faction, has been killed, William Mullins wounded and Jeff Fleming fatally hurt. The battle took place on Boone Fork, in a lonely mountain section, near the border of Letcher and Pike counties. The Mullins were led by Sol Mullins, and the Flemings by Sol Fleming. The two leaders opened fire on each other and their men joined in.

Sol Mullins led his followers in a fierce charge, which the Flemings met with a rain of bullets. Sol and Will Mullins fell, wounded and when Jeff Fleming was seen to fall the battle ended by Sol Mullins' consent. While attention was being given to the wounded, Sol Mullins died. Fifty shots were fired.

Sheriff Thacker, of Mercer county, went to the scene with a posse and arrested three of the Mullins faction. Sol Fleming refused to submit to arrest and fled with his men to the mountains. A battle is feared if his capture is attempted.

ANOTHER SCANDAL.

It Involves One of the Scientists in the Department of Agriculture.

Washington, July 28.—In a hearing Thursday at the department of agriculture at which Secretary Wilson, Assistant Secretary Hayes, Prof. Galloway, chief of the bureau of plant industry, George T. Moore, of that bureau, and two representatives of an agricultural publication were present, the two last named made charges that the wife of one of the scientists in the bureau of plant industry owned a block of stock in an eastern concern manufacturing culture for soil inoculation while the scientist was preparing bulletins regarding the enrichment of farms, and portraying the culture as containing virulent forms of bacteria for making poor land rich.

It was alleged that publications revised by the official tended to direct the farmers to a commercial concern supplying the material, because of the exhaustion of the supply by the department. At yesterday's hearing the scientist involved in the allegations admitted that his wife had owned the stock, but did not own it now.

UNDERTAKING.

LAST YEAR'S SHOWING.

Condition of the Nation's Finances Is in Every Respect Satisfactory.

The financial exhibit at the end of the govenrment's year. on June 30, was not quite so good as had been expected a few months earlier, but it was much better than had been looked for five or six weeks ago. In his annual report last December Secretary Shaw estimated that the treasury deficit at the end of June, 1905, would be $18,000,000 for the year. It has been $24,000,000 instead. At the end of May the shortage was $36,000,000, showing that for the last month of the fiscal year—June—the government's income largely exceeded its outgo. Usually June is a good month for the treasury, even in years, like this, of deficits. For the past two or three years the practice has been to hold back some disbursements in June which belong in that month, and push them over into July. This makes the treasury statement for the closing year a little better than it would otherwise be, but as the outlay is thus thrust forward into the new year, it counts in the figures of that year, and thus the situation as between outgo and income is not changed.

Secretary Shaw says there was no manipulation of the government's accounts during June. It is to be hoped that this is correct, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, for July is always a month of heavy expenditures. Even in the days of large treasury surpluses the treasury has a hard job in the first month of the fiscal year in making both ends meet. The year which has just closed had a total revenue of $543,000,000, as compared with $541,000,000 for the year which closed with June 30, 1904, a gain of $2,000,000. Expenditures for the year were $567,000,000, as against $528,000,000 in the preceding twelvemonth, a gain of $37,000,000. The deficit in the year just closed was thus $24,000,000, as compared with a surplus in the year ending with June, 1904, of $13,000,000. In the year 1904, however, the expenditure of $50,000,000 for the Penama canal and the loan of $4,600,000 to the Louisiana Purchase exposition are not included in those figures of expenditures. The world's fair loan was paid back in the fiscal year just closed, and the outlay on account of the Panama canal, of course, was not properly chargeable to the regular governmental expenditure. The government's income was larger than was looked for half a year ago, but this was much more than offset by the unexpected expansion in the outgo.

Of the $37,000,000 of an increase in the government's ordinary expenditures in the year just ended, $7,000,000 was for the army and $14,000,000 for the navy, or $21,000,000 for these two items. The Indians increased the expenditures $4,000,000 and the various outlays grouped under the heading of civil and miscellaneous accounted for $14,000,000 of an expansion. On the other hand, there was a falling off of $1,000,000 in pension payments and of an equal amount in other little items. What the balance sheet will say at the end of the fiscal year which has just begun is not known. It will probably be better than for the year just closed. The deficit has had the effect of cutting down the appropriations for the year which we have entered. A closer scrutiny than has been usual in the past will be given to all items of outlay this year. Moreover, the situation, even if the deficit should continue, would still be very far from discouraging. The treasury has its regular $150,000,000 of gold reserve, and has, in addition, a cash balance of over $135,000,000, much more than half of which is idle money, which could, if necessary, be used for purchasing bonds. In the absence of this resource, it can be distributed among the national banks, to be utilized by them, and thus placed in general circulation. It is not certain that the tax laws will have to be altered at all during the coming session of congress. Very likely, despite the heavy outlay which is inevitable during the present month, which will start the new year with a big deficit, December 1 will show the treasury's balance sheet to be better than it was last December, and therefore no revenue changes of any sort will be necessary.

The Right Man.

Elihu Root is the fittest of all men to succeed John Hay in the cabinet of Theodore Roosevelt. Considering what is lost and what is needed no other figure could fill the niche so completely. He has insight, judgment, unfailing sense and the versatility and aptness which make him the rounded man of affairs. Above all, he has the intellectual sobriety, grasp and force which fit him for the higher realm of statesmanship. The country will have full confidence in his management of foreign affairs. His broad counsel in all the large questions of the government will be invaluable, and his return to be the right hand of the president will give increased strength to the administration.—Philadelphia Press.

PROTECTION IS COMING.

England Getting Ready to Avail Herself of the Safeguard of Trade.

While the recent agitation in England looking to the institution of some form of direct protection in the way of duties upon foreign products has not accomplished anything in that direction, it is not to be assumed that the effort has entirely failed or has completely subsided. In fact, a very important step toward practical protection has been taken, as is shown by a London correspondent who writes with reference to the passing the second reading of the aliens' bill in the British house of commons. This measure, says the Troy Times, is framed with the intent of preventing the admission to England of destitute and other undesirable aliens. That it commands a strong measure of popular and parliamentary approval is made apparent by the vote. The bill was passed by a majority of 152.

Joseph Chamberlain, who represents the class of public men in England who are getting their eyes open to the necessity for some form of protection to British industry, says of this aliens-exclusion act that it is "only a step toward much greater things; the step is a small one between the bill which keeps out this low class of labor and the bill which I hope to see introduced shortly which will prevent the goods which these people make from coming into competition with those made in this country." The arguments which led to the introduction and passage of the aliens bill were familiar to Americans, and were that aliens of the sort indicated, because of criminality, disease and insanity, become burdens upon the poor authorities and the people who pay the taxes; that by unfair competition they oust native workmen and bring down wages; that they overcrowd the districts in which they live, dwell in unsanitary conditions and become a menace to the public health, and that their presence tends to reduce the standard of the national physique. Much the same sort of reasoning led to the restrictions governing immigration into the United States.

The aliens bill passed by the British house of commons is intended to protect British workmen from one form of admitted evil. It was shown in the discussion that while the population of London has increased only ten per cent. within ten years the strangers within the gates of the British capital number 37 per cent. more than a decade ago. These aliens are now coming from the continent at the rate of several thousands weekly, and are driving out many Britons who seek elsewhere the chance to make a living of which the new arrivals deprive them. The correspondent who presents the facts says: "We send away from this country from 150,000 to 200,000 able-bodied men and women, British born, and of these only ten per cent. represent unskilled labor, the rest being trained operatives among the men and skilled in some line of work among the women. And then we import from abroad all the refuse and decrepit labor from continental cities." The objectionables not only supplant the British artisans, but boycott the British shopkeeper wherever sufficiently numerous to do so. Cases are cited where public aid has to be given to those deprived of labor and patronage in this way, and the government has introduced a bill looking to providing more effective aid.

The situation brings out in bold relief the damage done in England through lack of safeguards against the economic dangers menacing that country. The exclusion of objectionable aliens may have satisfactory results, but, as Mr. Chamberlain says, the true policy is to prevent the goods made abroad by these aliens from coming into competition with British products. That means protection, toward which Great Britain is unmistakably drifting.

Quickly Squelched Fraud.

Betrayals of public trust are promptly dealt with under the Roosevelt administration. The summary removal of an official in the department of agriculture who was discovered to have divulged secrets regarding cotton crop reports was just what might have been expected, and no doubt any others who may be caught in similar wrongdoing will be strictly dealt with. The prosecutions which have been conducted against fraudulent practices in the post office department and in the land grabbing, meat trust and railroad merger cases show the determination of the administration to call violators of the law to account and to enforce purity in the public service. A high standard of integrity has been set up, and the inspiring effect is felt throughout the country.—Troy Times.

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case after Ten Years of Suffering.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble, of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the day time, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

A fleet of vessels is engaged from January to August each year in the capture of sharks near Iceland. Only the livers are sought. That of each yields five gallons of oil, which has medicinal virtues resembling those of cod liver oil.

The bureau of navigation of the department of commerce and labor has made public its annual shipbuilding returns for the year ending June 30, 1905. There were 1,054 sail and steam vessels of 263,064 gross tons built in the United States and officially numbered during the year.

CHANGED HUSBAND.

Wife Made Wise Change in Food.

Change of diet is the only way to really cure stomach and bowel trouble.

A woman says:

"My husband had dyspepsia when we were married and had suffered from it for several years. It was almost impossible to find anything he could eat without bad results.

"I thought this was largely due to the use of coffee and persuaded him to discontinue it. He did so, and began to drink Postum Food Coffee. The change did him good from the beginning, his digestion improved; he suffered much less from his nervousness, and when he added Grape-Nuts food to his diet he was soon entirely cured.

"My friend, Mrs. —— ——, of Vicksburg (my former home), had become a nervous wreck also from dyspepsia. Medicines had no effect, neither did travel help her. On my last visit home, some months ago, I persuaded her to use Grape-Nuts food. She was in despair, and consented. She stuck to it until it restored her health so completely that she is now the most enthusiastic friend of Grape-Nuts that I ever knew. She eats it with cream or dry, just as it comes from the package—keeps it in her room and eats it whenever she feels like it.

"I began eating Grape-Nuts food, myself, when my baby was two months old, and I don't know what I should have done without it. My appetite was gone, I was weak and nervous and afforded but very little nourishment for the child. The Grape-Nuts food, of which I soon grew very fond, speedily set all this right again, and the baby grew healthful, rosy and beautiful as a mother could wish. He is two years old now and eats Grape-Nuts food himself. I wish every tired young mother knew of the good that Grape Nuts would do her."

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The painter is the most important factor in painting, quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($30.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the poor painter's, $20.00.

'Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, July 29th, 1905.

Editor Press:—

The determination of the government to get to the bottom of the irregularities in the Department of Agriculture is shown by the action of the court to-day in the cases of the recalcitrant brokers Haas and Peckham who were subpoenaed from N. Y., to appear before the special grand jury and who refused to answer the questions put to them. Both the brokers were accompanied by counsel and refused to answer the questions asked them first on the ground that the court had no right to inquire into their private business and second claiming that their answers might incriminate them. This is one of the last pleas that a witness usually adopts and made it seem more apparent to the jury that the brokers were keeping back something that might be of vital interest in the investigation. The attorneys for the witnesses asked that they might have till Monday to pass on the question, but the court ruled that they must answer at the meeting of the grand jury on Saturday. It is believed that Judge Wright, before whom the hearing is being held, will direct the witnesses to answer the questions put to them or take the alternative of going to jail. Both of the witnesses have able counsel and while they on Friday reiterated their first decision not to reply to the question asked them, it is probable that they alter their minds when confronted with a jail sentence for contempt of court.

There is another mild sensation in the Department of Agriculture today by the presentation and prompt acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Geo. T. Moore of the Bureau of Soils. It appears that Dr. Moore had while connected with the Bureau published a pamphlet that was printed by the department on the enrichment of soils, recommending the use of certain nitrogenous compounds. The compound as is the custom in any such cases, was patented in the name of Dr. Moore by the Department of Agriculture as a protection to the farmers and assuring the freedom of the nitro culture for farm use. At the same time a company known as the Nitro Culture Company of West Chester, Pa., was formed to manufacture the compound and an offer of a good block of stock in the company and a liberal salary was made to Dr. Moore for his services. Dr. Moore communicated the offer to the Department but his resignation was not accepted and a raise of salary was promised him. The matter dragged along without the increase of salary being granted, and Dr. Moore's wife held the stock in the company while Dr. Moore continued to work in the bureau. This state of affairs continued till brought out at a hearing in the Department this week. Dr. Moore promply tendered his resignation to the Secretary of Agriculture and it was accepted and the whole action made public in a statement issued by the Department.

The board of inquiry into the Bennington explosion has been appointed and Commodore Stevens has been ordered south from San Francisco for duty with the board in order that it should be composed of officers of sufficiently advanced rank. The meetings of the board will be held on the Chicago, the flagship of the squadron.

A Touching Story.

Is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyler, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave he up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At L. Taggart's drug store; 50c and $1.00 guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

A fat purse will swell the brainles head.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at L. Taggart's drug store; price 50c.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER.

After Trying Other Treatments, Hyomei Was Used With Perfect Success.

Before the discovery of Hyomei the only advice a physician could give his hay fever patients, was to go away from home, but now anyone who is subject to this disease can, if used, stay at home without fear of the annual attack of sneezing, watery eyes, and other discomforts.

J. F. Forbes, a well known Western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Nebraska, writes "I have never had any relief from hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that L. Taggart agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

As age creeps on a man generally grows fat, while his hair grows thin.

Dangerous and Uncertain.

For sunburn, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, carbuncles, etc., are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Accept no substitute as they are dangerous and uncertain. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

It isn't every fellow who is out of the dough that takes the cake.

The Only Way.

There is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will be let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour risings, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles that are cureable are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Kodol digests what you eat and strengthens the whole digestive apparatus. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

We all have a warm spot in our hearts for the ice man.

Fiendish Suffering.

Is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers, that eat away your skin. Wm. Bedell, of Flat Rock, Mich., says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, for Ulcers, Sores and Cancers. It is the best healing dressing I ever found." Soothes and heals cuts, burns and scalds. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store; guaranteed.

Let us hope at least that there will not be servant troubles in heaven.

Pecular Disappearance.

J. D. Runyan, of Butlerville, O., laid the peculiar disappearance of his painful symptoms, of indigestion and biliousness, to Dr. King's New Life Pills He says: "They are a perfect remedy, for dizziness; sour stomach, headache, constipation, etc." Guaranteed at L. Taggart's drug store, price 25c.

The Lassies

Who use molasses demand the best syrup obtainable. Treacle is not molasses although there's much treacle sailing under false colors. The difference between treacle and molasses lies in the fact that treacle comes from sugar in the process of making, while molasses is obtained in the process of refining. You can not get good out of bad, but you can get the best from the best which comes from the sugar.

We Sell Molasses

That comes from the best and it is the best. Try our New Orleans, finest quality, and be convinced.

DANGEROUS GERMS IN SUMMER.

Strengthen the Stomach With Mi-o-na and Keep Well.

A wealthy philanthropist in New York spends thousands of dollars every summer providing milk for the babies, with the result that the mortality is greatly decreased. He appreciates the fact that disease germs are common in the summer and that the stomach must be kept healthy to resist their attacks.

Older people do not live on a milk diet to insure health, but they can so strengthen the stomach and digestive organs by the use of Mi-o-na that they too, will be free from sickness in the summer season.

Take a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal, and it will soothe and heal any inflammation that may be present in the lining of the stomach, give tone and strength to the whole digestive system, and aid you in naturally and easily digesting the food. It is the only remedy known that cures indigestion and stomach troubles by strengthening the digestive system. It is guaranteed to make a complete and permanent cure in all diseases of the stomach excepting cancer.

Mi-o-na restores complete health to the whole system and cures headaches, backache, sleeplessness, pains and distress after eating, vertigo, heart burn, and the general debility which result from a weak stomach and imperfect digestion.

A guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not show help, is given with every 50 cent box. Ask L. Taggart to show you the guarantee.

Virtue becomes a vice as soon as you are vain of it.

WHEN I AM GONE.

When I shall fold my hands in lasting sleep,
All done the tasks to me assigned,
I wonder, will there be some one to weep,
Or will the world seem not to mind,
When I am gone?

When I have passed away, will some one say,
As near my new-made grave he wanders by,
"Stern Death comes to us all, to each his day,"
And then pass coldly on without a sigh,
When I am gone?

When I have ceased my work, will there be none
To place a rose upon my tomb,
And speak a word of praise for some deed done,
Some kind word said, and mourn my doom,
When I am gone?
—Thomas Curtis Clark, in Chicago Record-Herald.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

Slowly they made their way to the right side of the Salle, where, between two windows overlooking the fosse, Madame de Montespan, the reigning favorite of the king, held her court. About her crowded statesman and soldier, wit and court beauty, knowing well that to gain her influence meant the favor of the king. She was clad in a gown whose skirt was of silver tissue, embroidered in gold touched with flame-color, with coat of Gros de Tours also richly embroidered in gold. Her hair was dressed in numberless curls (one on each side of the temples falling low on her cheeks), tied here and there with black ribbons, to which the magnificent pearls, once the property of the Marechale de l'Hopital, were attached. A mantle of gold d'Espagne partly concealed one dimpled shoulder, leaving the other without cover. Her arms were bare to the elbow, and encircled above by a gold open-work bracelet set with opals, while gloves of cream-colored Brussels lace covered her forearms and hands. Right royal did she appear in all the refulgence of her voluptuous beauty; the envy of every feminine mind; the shrine before which each masculine heart bowed.

The two men, first on the outskirts of the crowd, gradually worked their way toward the center of attraction, listening to the conversation of those they passed.

"Women are rakes by nature and prudes from necessity," remarked La Rochefoucauld in a low tone and with a significant glance at Madame de Montespan.

"True, most women prefer that we should talk ill of their virtue rather than ill of their wit or their beauty," smilingly replied Fontanelle, the young nephew of Corneille.

"For good reason," rejoined La Rochefoucauld. "Are not beauty and youth as necessary to a woman as the air they breathe and the wine they drink? Is it not valueless to a woman to be young unless pretty, or to be pretty unless young?"

"What angels beautiful women appear to be," sighed Racine, joining the party, "and what demons they really are, who make us enter hell through the door of paradise."

"Say, rather, that man is fire, woman tow, and the devil it is who comes and blows," gloomily remarked the Abbe Guyart.

"You will agree with me, Sir Abbe," laughed La Rochefoucauld, "saying that man, woman, and the devil are the three degrees of comparison. Or perhaps you would put woman last?"

Before the priest could make reply the voice of Madame de Montespan was heard calling to them:

"What are you conspirators talking about that you speak so low we cannot hear you? Let us, too, share your jest, or benefit by your wisdom."

"I have just said," replied La Rochefoucauld unblushingly, "that there were few women whose charms outlive their beauty, but that your wit, madame, the famous wit of the Mortemars, would yet charm the world were your unsurpassed beauty to fade and become but equal to that of other women."

Although he was a moralist, La Rochefoucauld was still a courtier.

"And I had but remarked previously," spoke up the young liar Fontanelle, "that, in the words of Francis First, of gracious memory, 'A royal court without women is like a year without spring; a spring without flowers.'"

The person to whom these speeches were addressed smiled sweetly upon the speakers, for all flattery, however gross, was a sweet-smelling incense to her nostrils.

"And you, Sir Explorer," she said, looking at La Salle, who now stood with Tonti within the inner circle, "what does your experience teach you to say upon this subject?"

"My experience in New France, Madame, has been mainly among savages. The word 'woman' is always associated there with the word 'marriage.'" Then, seeing by the frown upon the beauty's face that he had committed an indiscretion, he added, "but there beauty and wit are unknown quantities, and marriage is synonymous with servitude."

"That condition is not confined to New France," replied Madame de Montespan, with a bitter emphasis upon the "New." "What says your friend from Italy, the land of romance and beauty?"

Tonti, to whom these remarks were addressed, replied:

"A soldier, though from Italy, has scant time to form opinions on subjects that belong to the domain of the court. Although as to marriage," he added, with a smile and twinkle of the eye, "I seem to remember a saying we have in Tuscany: 'Before going to war say a prayer; before going to sea, say two prayers; before marrying, say three.'"

A burst of laughter from the group greeted this reply, but before anything else was said a whisper passed about the room, "The King!" and in a moment the crowd surrounding his favorite had parted, leaving an open way, down which he passed.

Before them all he stood, the chief puppet of the play; backed by the strength of armies whose advance meant destruction, yet weak as water beneath the caress of a mistress or the wiles of a crafty minister, yet the most polished voluptuary of his court; shrewd almost to cunning in his country's diplomacy, yet blinded by an egotism so great that were his bitterest enemy also an accomplished flatterer, he and that enemy would be friends ere sundown.

He was clad in a rich velvet coat with amazingly wide skirts; brocaded waistcoat reaching half-way to the knee; satin small-clothes and silk stockings; silver-buckled shoes that came nearly up to the ankle, with red heels four inches high; an immense wig, covered with flour, upon his head; a three-cornered cockaded hat, a gold-headed cane, and diamond-hilted sword. He endeavored to move with dignity, but he walked with a strut, elbows sticking out, rolling eyes, and out-turned toes. A king indeed he was, yet at once the strongest, weakest, grandest, most ridiculous monarch of all Europe.

He had advanced half-way toward his favorite, who was ready with a smile to greet him, when he suddenly stopped before one of the company who was clad in the prevailing mode, but all of his garments were black, in strange contrast with the peacock colors all about him, while large bands of crape about the arms and stockings made him a prominent figure amid the otherwise brightly gay throng. He was the husband of Madame de Montespan.

The king frowned. "Why all this dark array and black looks, marquis? For whom have you donned such heavy mourning?" he demanded.

"For my wife," was the reply, as the man gazed steadily into the eyes of Louis and then looked at Madame de Montespan, who was turning white with anger. The king flushed, bit his lip, then without a word turned upon his heel, and, walking to the door leading to his cabinet, disappeared.

La Salle and Tonti moved toward the door as the company, except those who had appointments with the king, began to disperse.

"I fear the royal temper will not be greatly sweetened by this incident," remarked the former dryly.

"Pardieu! I like the marquis' courage," exclaimed Tonti by way of reply.

They had waited but a few minutes when the door opened and their names were called. They entered the king's cabinet and found him seated at a long table littered with papers; near by sat his Minister Colbert, while in a window's embrasure on the further side of the room stood the minister's secretary with his back to the rest of the company, gazing out upon the street.

La Salle and Tonti advanced and stood at a respectful distance. All look of annoyance had left the king's face as he addressed them.

"So, Sieur de la Salle, you have brought your lieutenant with you for his commission. I recollect him well. 'Twas he that displayed such gallantry in the Sicilian campaign. I have also heard the story of his iron hand; a brave deed bravely done. Also of his actions before Messina, his imprisonment and all."

"'Tis naught, sire," was Tonti's reply in a deprecating tone. "The knowledge of your appreciation of my efforts to serve your majesty, together with the captaincy and the 300 livres I received, are ample rewards."

Louis looked at the speaker sharply, as if to determine whether the irony he fancied he detected in the last words were real or not.

"There were other rewards given him which he has forgotten to mention," said Colbert, in a hesitating tone. "It is not usual for foreign officers to occupy the responsible positions in the royal forces that he has held. That of itself ought to be distinction enough. Your majesty has just asked me for my humble opinion as to the brave capitaine's commission. Like all of my opinions, it would be worthless, but I should not recommend the signing of it."

Under the cloak of humility, the wily minister threw such a tone of meaning that Louis instantly demanded his reason.

"A thoroughly selfish one, sire, but natural in one devoted to your interests. Have we, too, many officers whom you can trust as you do this brave Italian? Would you not, in your anxiety to please the Sieur de la Salle, be robbing yourself? Could not so gallant a soldier best serve the king by remaining in France? War is again imminent, and it will not be long ere the Capitaine Tonti will have another chance to perform other gallant deeds and reap rich rewards."

The king seemed struck by the argument advocated; the more so as it appealed to the selfish side of his nature. He bit the end of his pen a moment, then throwing it down before him on the table and pushing the commission to one side, he turned to Tonti. "True words indeed," he said, "and ones that but echo my own thoughts. We have need of strong arms, clear heads, and loyal hearts in our service. We think, on the whole, Sieur de la Salle, that you can find a fit lieutenant for your enterprise without taking from us our true and tried officers."

La Salle was about to speak when Tonti, advancing a step and with a meaning glance at Colbert, thus addressed the king:

"He indeed, sire, speaks truly when he says that there were other rewards given me which I forbore, not forgot, to mention; rewards received from the hands of an ambitious and unscrupulous minister rather than those of a grateful and generous king."

"How now, Sir Capitaine!" angrily interrupted Louis. "We like not to hear such words concerning our chief officer of state."

"Pardon, sire," replied Tonti. "Soft words are not always true ones. The rewards referred to I shall enumerate in a moment if you have the patience. My father brought me here a child. He found a great king reigning over a mighty kingdom with an empty treasury. He devised a plan for the filling of that treasury. You would not permit him to carry it to conclusion; you intrusted it to the unskilled, ignorant hand of your minister; it failed. He studied the plan more carefully and saw the merit of my father's minute advice, hitherto unheeded. He tried again; he succeeded; and now his successor sits here the second man in France, while my father, to whom all was due——"

"Was amply rewarded," interposed Louis, "and went back to Italy to live in well-deserved comfort his remaining days, dying in peace shortly after his return."

"No," bitterly explained Tonti with a menacing glance at Colbert. "That was probably what his lying tongue told you. Ah! Sire, the life of a loyal soldier was ever mine. Through the years of rough campaigning, through siege and sortie, camp and fleet, I performed those deeds that you have graciously enumerated, and returned home to find the father who ought to have been loaded down with honors awaiting the arrival of his soldier son fresh from a hundred battles——"

Tonti stopped an instant as though to gain control of himself. The king was listening earnestly. Colbert sat with a disdainful smile upon his lips, and a venomous look in his eyes.

"To find the father whose skill in finance and gratitude to the monarch that received him, an exile, had given you the means of conducting a glorious war and gathering fresh laurels that can never fade; that father who deserved as his reward the half of your kingdom and a place at your right hand; who taught me 'fear God and honor the king' as the first whole sentence my young lips framed;—to find, I say, that he had been housed in the Bastille since my departure; that he had died alone and in prison; died a victim of the cruelty and neglect of his gaolers. Tell me, sire, is that the way to reward a faithful servant? For my own reward, paltry though it was, I do not complain; but now when I come to you loaded down with this gross injustice and wrong and beg a favor such as the present, am I to be refused? Nay this is a favor I now beg, ask, yea, more than that, demand of you. It is not the days of fighting, the nights of vigilance, the dangers met and passed, the cords that bound these wrists in captivity, the loss of this hand,"—here Tonti struck the table with his gloved hand, causing a sharp metallic sound,—"and the shame at having chosen an ungrateful king to serve that cries to you now from the mouth of a humble capitaine,—it is more! It is a voice higher than the voice of kings, louder than the justice calling to a great monarch, one who believes himself to be just, whose kingly nature cannot afford to be ungrateful to even the meanest of his subjects."

King though he was, Louis delighted in a brave man, even though he were opposed to him. The better nature of the monarch was stirred at such evident injustice at his hands, so, instead of being angry at Tonti for his plain speaking (strange speech indeed for royal ears to hear), he turned sharply toward Colbert.

"Your explanation," he demanded curtly.

"You will recollect, sire, that after the failure of the elder Tonti's plan, you were very much enraged, feeling that he had deceived you, and desired his name placed on the list of those liable to have lettres de cachet issued against them?" said Colbert in an insinuating tone, as though fearful of showing the king the fault of his own doing. "In some way his name was not erased, and in due process of time you yourself signed one for him; he was apprehended, confined in the Bastille, and died, not by cruelty of those who cared for him as his son suggests, but by his own hand. Some one else must have told you the story about his retirement to Italy. I have never heard it said."

The king looked at his oily-tongued servant long and suspiciously, but such was the confidence placed in him and so great was his influence over the royal mind that Louis finally withdrew his gaze, and muttering, "I must have signed it without looking at the name," he seized a pen, and taking up the unsigned commission before him, interpolated a few words and hurriedly wrote the word "Louis," then handed it to Tonti, saying:

"Shame on an ungrateful king! Accept this commission as a partial return for your own wrongs. In it I have added several privileges additional. As to the injustice to your father, believe me, Louis, who loves to be called 'the just,' will watch over your endeavors in the new world and reward them tenfold, making up to the son in some measure the wrong suffered by the father at my hands. Go, and may success be yours, and let it be known that he who opposes you strikes at the king."

Tonti received his commission in silence, and after bending and kissing the royal hand, left the room. La Salle at a signal from Colbert remained. Louis buried himself in a lengthy document. Colbert called to him his secretary. He was the Comte de Miron. White with rage, the minister whispered or rather hissed into his ear: "Did you see that man who just now left the cabinet?" The Comte nodded. "Kill me him within 24 hours!" The Comte glided out by another door.

Meanwhile Tonti waited for his friend in the Grand Salle. Not more than 20 people remained, chiefly gathered about mademoiselle at the farther end of the room. He joined them, and listened as mademoiselle related the incident of Renee and the accident to her chair. During the recital he worked his way into a position near her elbow. When she had finished he asked in a low tone and with forced indifference, "and who might the fortunate cavalier be who came so happily to her aid?"

"She did not speak his name." Then in tones so low that only Tonti could hear, she added, with a spiteful gleam in her eye, "but she recognized him. It was the great explorer," then turned her head away. Tonti was dazed. There was only one great explorer, and how she could have confounded himself with La Salle he knew not. Smarting with hurt pride and disappointment, he looked across to the other side of the group and saw the lowering face and hate-filled eyes of the Comte de Miron, and in that glance he recognized his antagonist of the day before.

Nailed the Lies.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, while dining with a party of friends a few nights ago in an uptown hotel, told this story after a concurrence of ideas among the party that there were fewer campaign lies told during the last campaign than any other they could remember.

"The son of a friend of mine, a politician in Missouri, has a young and precocious boy who got interested in politics from hearing his father talk so much. The boy came to his father one day and asked:

"'Papa, are all these things that they say about you true?'"

"'No, my son, they are not; they are campaign lies.'

"'I thought so,' was the little boy's reply, 'and I nailed every one of them.'

"'How did you nail them?'

"'Why; I cut them all out and nailed them on the trees in front of the house.'"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Except in Invasion.

During the war with Spain a meeting was held in a western state to organize a regiment of volunteers, at which Major Hersey was present to help along the enthusiasm. In drawing up the conditions under which the men were to volunteer the secretary said to the chairman:—

"I have modelled these conditions on a copy I have of those used for volunteers in England. Shall I insert this clause that the regiment is not to serve out of this country?"

"Oh certainly, put that in," said the Major, who is something of a wag, "Certainly they are not to serve out of the country—except in case of invasion."—N. Y. Herald.

Comparative Conditions.

Philosophers claim that distress, even when positive or superlative, is still only comparative, which bears out the answer that Mr. George Edwards, who recently returned to England, made to a Birmingham manufacturer who was complaining of hard times.

"The pressure of the times is such in our city," said the Birmingham man, "that we have good workmen who will get up the inside of a watch for eighteen shillings."

"Pooh, that's nothing compared to London," replied Mr. Edwards "We have boys here who will get up the inside of a chimney for sixpence."—N. Y. Herald.

No Doubt About His Business.

Lawyer Thomas Riley of Boston, while trying a case before a jury in the superior court, stood up to cross-examine a witness whose testimony was very damaging to his case.

"On the night in question, Mr. Witness," he began, "did you not have several drinks of whisky?"

"That's my business," answered the witness.

"I know it's your business," quickly responded Mr. Riley, "but were you attending to it?"—Boston Herald.

NAMES BEST DOCTOR

MR. BAYSSON PUBLISHES RESULTS OF VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Former Pronounced Dyspeptic He Now Rejoices in Perfect Freedom from Miseries of Indigestion.

Thousands of sufferers know that the reason why they are irritable and depressed and nervous and sleepless is because their food does not digest, but how to get rid of the difficulty is the puzzling question.

Good digestion calls for strong digestive organs, and strength comes from a supply of good rich blood. For this reason Mr. Baysson took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the cure of indigestion.

"They have been my best doctor," he says. "I was suffering from dyspepsia. The pains in my stomach after meals were almost unbearable. My sleep was very irregular and my complexion was sallow. As the result of using eight boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, about the merits of which I learned from friends in France, I have escaped all these troubles, and am able again to take pleasure in eating."

A very simple story, but if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it might have been a tragic one. When discomfort begins with eating, fills up the intervals between meals with pain, and prevents sleep at night, there certainly cannot be much pleasure in living. A final general breaking down must be merely a question of time.

Mr. Joseph Baysson is a native of Aix-les-Bains, France, but now resides at No. 2439 Larkin street, San Francisco, Cal. He is one of a great number who can testify to the remarkable efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of obstinate disorders of the stomach.

If you would get rid of nausea, pain or burning in the stomach, vertigo, nervousness, insomnia, or any of the other miseries of a dyspeptic, get rid of the weakness of the digestive organs by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by druggists everywhere.

Proper diet is, of course, a great aid in forwarding recovery once begun, and a little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," may be obtained by any one who makes a request for it by writing to the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N.Y. This valuable diet book contains an important chapter on the simplest means for the cure of constipation.

This Makes Monday Bright and Fair

There is an old saying that man works from Sun to Sun but woman's work is never done. This idea was well enough perhaps, in the year 1714 when it was first made public, but if woman's work is never done now it is generally her own fault.

Take for instance, the matter of washing clothes—there is no longer any reason to dread "wash day" or to call it "blue Monday" unless you persist in scrubbing your clothes on a washboard over a steaming tub of hot, dirty water and follow all the rest of the old fashioned nonsense the same as they used to do the family washing when Noah was a small boy.

Of course if you do your work in that out-of-date kind of way, there won't be any rest for you here and not much comfort in life either, because you will always be busy.

Now, between ourselves, in the matter of washing clothes—what's the use of making a drudge of yourself when with a Majestic Rotary Washing Machine, which costs little and lasts long, you can almost make a pastime of what used to be the darkest day in the week.

THE SCHOOL-GIRLS

HONEST, FAITHFUL WORK WINS IN THE END.

The "Sketchy" Girl Must Cram for Examinations—She May Get High Marks, But Will Finally Be Distanced by Her More Conscientious Schoolmate — Perseverance Will Bring Even the Dull Girl Its Reward—A Little Study During Holidays Keeps the Mind Facile—Nature Work for Out-of-Doors.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

(Copyright, 1905, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Examinations loom large in school life, because they are tests of progress. When the school year is at an end, and you look back over its course, as over a journey from one point to another, the examinations stand out in memory like milestones on the road. In some schools there are weekly tests, in others reviews come monthly, and in nearly every school there are half-yearly examinations which very fairly show the work that has been assigned and demonstrate the faithfulness with which it has been done.

A student whose work is fairly well performed every day, who never brings half-learned lessons to a recitation, who never shirks a task or accepts help, instead of working out problems for herself, need have no dread of examinations. They will take care of themselves. But there are girls who have an easy way of slipping through their tasks, who are not at all thorough, nor diligent, and yet who manage to seem prepared when they are just the reverse. I have known such girls, brilliant and superficial, who glanced over their work at the last moment, and hoped for an easy question, or who looked as if they knew so much that the teacher passed them over, and put her query to a duller girl in the next seat. These sketchy girls when examination time comes are obliged to "cram." They spend frantic hours in making up in a hurry what ought to have been at their fingers' ends throughout the term. They possibly pass a written examination, and send in papers that receive high marks. But in the end they will be distanced by other girls who were faithful all through.

Girls who are merely clever are like merchants who put all their goods in the shop windows, and have nothing on the shelves. Unless we have plenty to draw from besides what we put in front for the public to see, we shall soon find our working capital exhausted, and our resources hopelessly crippled.

* * * * *

I wonder if you understand precisely what I mean? It is so important that a woman should in these days be equipped at every point, for her home life or her business opportunities, or her profession, whatever it may be, that no girl at school can afford to waste her opportunities. You have been told over and over until the words seem but an idle tale, that you are in life's morning, that these are your best days, and that if you do not make the most of the present, it will never be in your power to retrieve the loss.

Half the time you listen to this sort of preaching with bored resignation, when it comes from parents and teachers. But, dear girl, it is true. The mill will never grind again with water that is passed. What you lose to-day you cannot gain to-morrow. The real value of education to girls, is that it is preparing them to take their places in the world, and to make the world better in days to come. A girl who does not make the most of her time in school will not only be sorry later on, but will be surpassed by others less clever than herself, but more conscientious.

Occasionally one meets a very commonplace woman who has few ideas, no conversation, and very little influence. People pass her by without paying attention to anything she says, and express surprise when told that she is a graduate of some conspicuous college. How did she ever manage to secure a diploma? may be asked.

Well, there may be more than one explanation. She may have done her work mechanically, or she may have had a remarkably good memory, or she may have studied hard for examinations and used up her strength too lavishly. Unless one is developed systematically in brain and heart and body, she will have to take a back seat in the audience when others are on the platform, directing the purposes of the assembly. She will be in the rear, and the procession will finally drop her from its ranks.

* * * * *

I want to say something to encourage the dull girls, who have to work tremendously for all they secure. In talking one day with a noted educator, a man under whose eyes hundreds of pupils had passed, and who had made a profound study of the possibilities of young people, I was impressed with something he said. It was this: "I am not very much interested in the clever and brilliant girls who toss off their work as if it were a bagatelle. They may be trusted to achieve some good results, unless they depend too much on their native quickness, or they prove failures. A plodding pupil who has to wage a battle for every inch of ground gained, awakens my enthusiasm and stimulates me to offer all the help that is in me. I love to see the triumph of dogged perseverance when difficulties have thickened in the way."

Perhaps the point made here by the teacher was to the effect that what we strive for we prize, and also that steady application, with a given object in view, in the long run, is better than swift spurts, with lapses of idleness between them.

However, we are not all alike. Some of you have one method, some another. Whatever else you leave undone, I beg you never to let a day end until you have finished fully the things that belong to that day. The long vacations which we have ought to be put to good use by school girls, partly in view of next year's work, and partly because it is absurd to drop study wholly for one fourth or one sixth of the year.

The summer holiday is not in the least too long for the teacher, but it is much too long an interval for girls who wish to make the most of the flying years, to spend in entire idleness. Why not take two hours every day and devote them to some earnest study which will keep the mind facile, and help you along another year? Why not get up examination papers of your own? If you like and if you have no conditions, to occupy you before you pass to a higher grade, a good plan may be to take hold of some study that will keep you much out of doors. The woods and fields are full of flowers. The brook and river wave with flags and rushes. Up the hill slopes climb the wild roses, beside the fence blaze the tiger lilies, over the stone wall riots the vine, and every tree and bush and shrub is a whole school of natural history.

There are birds almost without number, there will be moths, beetles, butterflies, crickets and katydids, squirrels will frisk among the boughs, and chipmunks play hide and seek among the leaves. Do not lose sight of the interesting things that are all about you out of doors.

Whether you pass your examinations in school with credit or not, sit down now at Mother Nature's feet and learn of her. Do not be discouraged if you have been surpassed by somebody else. Do your best, and leave the rest. If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

PRETTY CROCHET LACE.

With Revival of This Fancywork, We Present an Unusually Good Design.

Work 6 chain and join into a ring.

1st Row: 6 chain, 1 treble into the ring just made, 3 chain, another treble in same place, repeat from * three times more, 3 chain, join to third stitch of the 6 chain (which will count as 1 treble).

2nd Row: 5 in. double crochets under each chain loop.

3rd Row: 5 chain, 1 treble in nearest stitch but one of previous row, *, 2 chain, pass one, a treble in next, repeat from * all round, join the last 2 chain to the 3rd stitch of the 5 chain.

4th Row: *, 2 double crochets under the nearest chain loop, 5 chain back into 5th from hook (picot), 2 more double crochets under the same loop as before, pass to the next loop, and repeat from * all round the wheel.

The other wheels are all worked in the same manner, except that in working the last row one picot is joined to a corresponding one of the previous wheel (see illustration).

The heading is worked after the required number of wheels are joined.

*, work a treble into the 6th picot from the joined one—counting from left to right—4 chain, a double crochet in the 5th picot, 4 chain, a double crochet in the 4th picot, 4 chain, a double crochet in the 3rd picot, 4 chain, a treble in the next picot, this will leave one picot unworked, pass this and the corresponding one on the next wheel, make 3 chain, and repeat from * on each wheel, and finish with a row of trebles—one in each stitch—all along the top.

IDEAS FOR SHOPPERS.

Some of the quaintest of baby dresses have copied from new lounging robes the defining of the waist line by rows of shirring, or rows of lace insertion. The effect in the tiny dresses is exquisite.

Soft gray suede is the foundation for a beautiful girdle, which is studded with cut steel beads and ends in a cut steel buckle.

Leather belts for children come in every shade to match, or to tone in with, the little Russian blouse dresses they are worn with.

Soft, filmy chiffon is gathered into girdles high all the way round, but especially so directly in front and back.

Colored spangles are in evidence, too; silver on white, steel on black, and silver and gold together.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Child's Manners.

To teach a child in pretty behavior with the grown folks as it is to teach her to recite bits of French poems. Drill her so carefully and so lovingly that when the matron caller says: "Come here, my dear," or "Is this your little daughter?" she will unhesitatingly advance, put out her hand, say: "How do you do?" smile, and listen to all that is said to her as though your caller's words were words of especial wisdom.

Summer Boas.

The brown feather boa, the pretty shaded chiffon boa, and airy fairy tulle confections vie with one another in popularity, and will do so for several months to come.

ONCE THERE WAS A MAN

Who Had Something to Say About Politics and Who Learned Something.

Once there was a man who complained that unworthy men were too frequently elected to office, relates the Chicago Tribune.

"Do you attend the primaries?" asked his hearers.

"I do not," he said.

"Then you have no right to kick," they told him. "It's the duty of every good citizen to attend the primaries and see that the best men are chosen as candidates."

Whereupon he began attending the primaries.

He worked faithfully for the nomination of sober, honest and reputable candidates.

But it did no good.

The other fellows turned out in greater numbers and outvoted him, and bad men were nominated and elected to office, as before.

He felt that he had a right to kick this time, and he complained again.

"Do you attend the primaries?" his hearers asked him.

"I do."

"Then you ought to keep your mouth shut," they said. "You are a part of the crowd that nominates bad men, and you are responsible for them."

Our Changing Language.

"Do you think that our country will ever succeed in getting rid of grafters?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "There will be a time when grafters are unheard of. But it will be due to the change that is constantly going on in our vocabulary. There will be a new word that means the same thing."—Washington Star.

Especially for Women.

Champion, Mich., July 24th.—(Special).—A case of especial interest to women is that of Mrs. A. Wellett, wife of a well-known photographer here. It is best given in her own words.

"I could not sleep, my feet were cold and my limbs cramped," Mrs. Wellett states. "I had an awful hard pain across my kidneys. I had to get up three or four times in the night. I was very nervous and fearfully despondent.

"I had been troubled in this way for five years when I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and what they caused to come from my kidneys will hardly stand description.

"By the time I had finished one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was cured. Now I can sleep well, my limbs do not cramp, I do not get up in the night and I feel better than I have in years. I owe my health to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Women's ills are caused by Diseased Kidneys; that's why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men—The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Overestimated.

Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyes—because she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature. The influence of women glorious in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured. Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition; because of them even thrones have been established and destroyed.

What a disappointment, then, to see the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is a serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often all the doctoring does no good.

If a woman finds her energies are flagging, and that everything tires her, dark shadows appear under her eyes, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams; if she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, whites, irregularities, or despondency, she should take means to build her system up at once by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This great remedy for women has done more in the way of restoring health to the women of America than all other medicines put together. It is the safeguard of woman's health.

Following we publish, by request, a letter from a young wife.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley of 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so that I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every woman who is in poor health and ailing.

Its benefits begin when its use begins. It gives strength and vigor from the start, and surely makes sick women well and robust.

Remember Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of woman's ills. This fact is attested to by the thousands of letters from grateful women which are on file in the Pinkham laboratory. Merit alone can produce such results.

Women should remember that a cure for all female diseases actually exists, and that cure is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Take no substitute.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

A woman may be convinced in after years that she drew a blank in the matrimonial lottery, but she clings to the belief that her husband drew a prize.—Chicago Sun.

The Yellowstone Park, Lewis and Clark Exposition and the Rocky Mountains.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged a special personally-conducted tour to visit the Pacific Coast, including the Yellowstone Park, Portland (for the Lewis and Clark Exposition) and the beautiful resorts among the Colorado Rockies. This tour will leave New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities on the Pennsylvania Railroad, Saturday, September 2, by a special train of high-grade Pullman equipment. The itinerary will cover a period of three weeks, the party reaching the East on the homeward journey September 22. The special train will be used by the party over the entire route, except during the five and one-half days in the Yellowstone Park, when the fine hotels now in service in the Great Preserve will be utilized. The train will be side-tracted in Portland for occupancy there, and all meals en route, except in the Yellowstone Park and in Denver, will be served in the special dining car.

Round-trip tickets, covering all necessary expenses for twenty-one days, $200 from all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad except Pittsburgh, from which the rate will be $195.

For itineraries and further information apply to ticket agents or address Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent Philadelphia. 24-21.
